U-turn over council offices facelift plan

PLANS for a £3 million refurbishment of a threatened council's headquarters have been shelved amid a political row about the scheme.

The controlling Conservative group on Forest Heath District Council is due to vote for the scheme to be shelved next month – less than three months after giving it the go-ahead.

Liberal Democrats, who previously argued that the plans should be suspended while the future of the council is considered, accused the Conservatives of stealing their ideas and "electioneering".

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

The council, the smallest in the region, is likely to disappear if plans for a new unitary council in Suffolk are accepted.

Forest Heath's offices in College Heath Road, Mildenhall, are around just 20 years old but have suffered problems with air conditioning, heating and leaking roofs.

The council has previously voted to spend around £300,000 on a consultant's report on the building to assess what could be done with it.

Cllr Geoffrey Jaggard, the council's Conservative leader, said the plans to refurbish the buildings should be suspended until after the Local Government Boundary Committee has made its recommendations for the future of councils in Suffolk early next year.

He said: "The refurbishment was supported by the whole council last July.

"We are now in a very different situation and it is unclear how the buildings will be used in future. I therefore believe the right thing to do is put the office refurbishment project on hold.

"We hope that, whatever the decision about local government in Suffolk, a local presence will be preserved in Forest Heath."

Liberal Democrat group leader Cllr Ian Radford said: "It is interesting that Cllr Jaggard now wants to do what David Cameron accuses Gordon Brown of and steal our policies. It is also interesting that he wants to rewrite history.

"The Conservatives are now claiming that this project was supported by the whole council, it is not the case and has never been the case. The Liberal Democrats had preferred that hard-pressed local Council Tax-payers' money was spent on local services not plush new council offices."

He noted that the U-turn by the Conservatives had come just before a by-election for a vacant seat in Red Lodge in which Liberal Democrat literature had highlighted the controversy over the office refurbishment.

Pupils enjoy a taste of French café culture

VILLAGE primary school children had a taste of France with a day dedicated to learning more about the country and its culture.

Nearly 100 pupils at Cheveley school, near Newmarket, joined in with the teachers and other staff.

The youngsters ran their own French café with Year 6 pupils as the waiters and waitresses. French bread and cheese was supplied by supermarkets Waitrose and Tesco.

Pupils also had the chance to paint pictures in the style of French artist Georges Seurat who is known for his pointillism – dotting – technique.

French teacher Corrine Blandin, who runs a French club at the school called Petit Appetit, helped to organise the day.

Julie Zak, headteacher, said: "The children were very enthusiastic and enjoyed practising their French – particularly in the café. The idea of the day was to experience the culture of France and understand more about the country."

Classic cars on the road celebrate club's decade

CLASSIC cars from the past half-century set off on Thursday for a twinning trip to France.
Members of Newmarket and District Car Club are taking part in the trip to twin town Maisons Laffitte to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the club.
The cars include a French Citroen 2CV as well as British E-Type Jaguars, Morris Minor Travellers and a Sunbeam Alpine.
In France they are meeting up with fellow car enthusiasts to exchange ideas and tour the area.
Alan Haynes, from the club, said: "We have a bi-annual visit. One year we go to France and the next year the French come to us.

■ BEHIND THE WHEEL . . . Harry Brewin, aged five, with his grandad, Bill McLean, chairman of the car club . 485257.

"This year it is our turn to go over to Maisons Laffitte and we have called it the 'Dogs and Frogs' Tour to mark our club's 10th anniversary. We are the British bulldogs and they are the frogs."

Nearly 30 club members are taking part in the trip with about 14 cars. They will be accompanied by more modern back-up vehicles for the trip which will cover more than 600 miles.

The group left from the club's headquarters at The Bull pub in Burrough Green and are due to return on Tuesday.

Bill McLean, the club chairman, is also chairman of the Newmarket twinning association.

Links between Newmarket and Maisons Laffitte have been established for more than 50 years making it the longest running link between English and French towns.

Residents 'do not want a truck stop'

RESIDENTS have denied that they support a land-owner's plan to establish a new lorry parking area.

Hugo Upton has claimed there has been widespread support for his plans for the parking area off the A11 at Red Lodge.

He has suggested that the £1 million-plus scheme would get lorries out of the village and would relocate the popular truckers' café to the new site on the other side of the Red Lodge bypass.

But Red Lodge Eye, the local residents' association, has said that they do not support his plan.

Ian Harris, of Red Lodge Eye, said: "Yes, yes – chuck the trucks out of Red Lodge.

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

"No, no, no – not just onto the other side of the road."

He said a new truckstop would act as a magnet for lorries from the A14 where there have been calls for an official lorry parking area.

The residents' association has argued that the new facility could bring additional lorries through small villages as they try to find their way across-country to the new truckstop which will have space for more than 70 lorries.

The villagers have previously complained about overnight parking by lorry drivers in Red Lodge.

But Mr Harris said: "Our small rural roads through the villages will not cope.

"The site would also affect Worlington, Freckenham and many other villages in the district.

"The majority of Red Lodge residents do not want a truck stop at all. The truck stop should be on the Newmarket by-pass."

The residents association has pointed out that the lorry park was previously part of plans for more than 5,000 new homes on farmland beside the A11 and have warned that it could be the start of plans to develop a wide area.

So far no application for planning permission has been submitted.

Injury probe

THE Health and Safety Executive is investigating an incident in which a man got his arm caught in machinery at a recycling yard.

The 50-year-old man was flown to hospital by the East Anglian Air Ambulance helicopter after the incident at the European Metal Recycling depot at Snailwell on Saturday.

His arm was badly broken after it was caught in a drum roller at the depot.

Firefighters were called but he was freed before they arrived.

The air ambulance landed at the site and flew him to hospital.

Cambridgeshire police said details of the incident had been passed to the Health and Safety Executive for investigation.

Damage

THIEVES caused more than £850 damage at a school when they stole food and drink worth just £10.

A number of windows were smashed at Riverside Middle School, Mildenhall, during the break-in which happened between 6.45pm last Tuesday and 6am the following day.

The thieves stole cartons of juice and ice cream from the school's kitchens.

Anyone with information should call Pc Emma Peachey at Mildenhall police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Fuel gone

FUEL has been stolen from two parked cars and an attempt was made to steal fuel from a third one.

The cars were parked in a garage block area off Hyperion Way, on Newmarket's Studlands Park estate.

The fuel filler caps were forced on all three cars.

Anyone with information should call Pc Chris Strahm at Newmarket Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Punctured

VANDALS punctured the tyre of a van while it was parked on the driveway of a house.

The white Fiat Scudo was parked in Acorn Way, Red Lodge, when the incident happened between 2.30am and 3.15am on Sunday, May 11.

Anyone with information should call Pc Lesley Sloman at the Iceni Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Chelsea hat-trick for local flower growers

FLOWER growers Brian and Pearl Sulman have scored a hat-trick of gold awards at the Chelsea Flower Show.

The couple have been growing pelargoniums at their Mildenhall nursery for 38 years and have been exhibiting at Chelsea, regarded as the world's top flower show, for 21 years.

They have won a Royal Horticultural Society gold medal for three years running – and five in total – at Chelsea.

Brian, 63, said: "We're rather chuffed – particularly since it's the third consecutive year that we have been awarded a gold medal.

"One of the judges said on television that the standard of all the exhibits was higher than ever this year."

The couple's colourful display included three new varieties – two raised by John Green, of Wisbech, and one, called Cottenham Magic, raised by the late Mervyn Haird, a Cambridgeshire pelargonium expert.

Mr and Mrs Sulman have already taken a gold award at the Malvern show and a premier award at the Harrogate show earlier this year.

They will be staging one of their regular open weekends at their nursery in Kingsway, Mildenhall, on the weekend of Saturday, May 31, and Sunday, June 1.

Deportation row woman can stay to nurse mum

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

A WOMAN facing deportation has been allowed to stay in Britain while immigration officials decide whether she can be granted citizenship.

Tess Henry, who is caring for her dying mother, had been warned that she should leave the country by midnight on Monday.

But she has been told that she can stay while her status is settled.

Ms Henry, 41, has been caring for her mother Jennifer Jeeps at her home in Swan Grove, Exning, for nearly two years.

She previously lived in Australia, although she went to school in Newmarket and Bury St Edmunds and trained as a nurse at Newmarket hospital.

Immigration officials were insisting that she returned to Australia to sort out her citizenship status. But, following the intervention by Newmarket's MP Richard Spring, she has been allowed to stay in Britain while the issue is decided.

Mrs Jeeps, 63, said: "This has taken so much pressure off. I spent the whole weekend very unwell worrying about it.

"This is a lucky break and it's thanks to the involvement of Mr Spring. It's good to be able to say something nice about an MP."

Ms Henry's father was an American serviceman and she was born at a US Air Force base in Turkey.

She moved to Britain when her mother divorced.

Mrs Jeeps, who was born in South Africa, said she applied for, and was granted, British citizenship for Tess and her brother in the mid 1970s. She said she left the certificates with a solicitor. But they were subsequently lost and the immigration service say they have no record of them.

Ms Henry travelled to Australia for a working holiday more than 20 years ago and subsequently settled there.

She returned to Britain in 2006 to care for her mother who has cancer and has been trying for more than a year to establish her British citizenship.

She said: "I'm grateful to Mr Spring, without his intervention I wouldn't be here now."

Mr Spring said: "This was a clear-cut case on compassionate grounds and I am pleased the immigration service has listened."

LighterLife is giving £1 to The Stroke Association for every visitor to the website (www.lighterlife.com/bmi4life) where people can check their BMI.

Anyone wanting more information can contact Gwen Owen (01638) 662239.

Pick-up truck stolen

A PICK-UP truck has been stolen from a car park at Wingfield Road, Lakenheath.

The red Toyota Hilux, registration P347 OAR, was stolen between 6.45pm last Friday and 11.30am on Sunday. The truck has a double cab and a hard case over the back.

Anyone with information should call Pc Sarah Chapman at Mildenhall Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Police launch week-long campaign against drugs with raid in town

POLICE staged a raid in Newmarket as part of a week-long campaign against drug dealers and producers.

No arrests were made, but a quantity of what is thought to have been drugs were seized in the Tuesday morning raid at an address in the Exning Road area of the town.

Suffolk police are taking part in a national campaign to tackle drugs problems.

They are using sniffer dogs and a new machine which can detect drug traces.

They are also appealing to the public to tip them off about suspicious people and activities.

Tips from neighbours have previously helped uncover houses converted into "farms" to grow the drug cannabis.

Latest figures for the county show there were slightly fewer offences involving class A "hard" drugs – 339 in 2007/8 compared with 341 the previous year.

But there were 1,545 other drug offences in the same period – 105 more than the previous year.

The county's police estimate there are about 2,600 "problem drug users" in the county who commit other crimes, including burglaries, thefts and robberies, to feed their habits.

Det Chief Insp David Skevington said: "This campaign aims to highlight the positive work we do all year round in taking drugs and dealers off the street.

"This issue blights our local communities and our message is: 'Your call can make a difference'.

"Information from members of the public is key in tackling this issue."

The campaign also involves the Suffolk Drug and Alcohol Action Team (DAAT) which helps drug users to give up their habits.

Last year 1,460 people received drug treatment in Suffolk – an extra 200 compared with the previous year.

Anyone with information about drug activity should call Crimestoppers 0800 555111.

Anyone wanting information about tackling drug and alcohol problems can call DAAT's helpline (01473) 299640 between 9am and 6pm Monday to Friday.

■ COMPLEX ISSUES . . . the mobile phone mast at the centre of the row and, inset, Cllr Geoffrey Jaggard.

Talks begin on new site for phone mast

TALKS have started with the aim of finding an alternative site for a controversial mobile phone mast outside a school.

But even if a suitable new location is found for the mast outside Newmarket College, there will need to be further talks about who will pay for moving the mast and its associated equipment – estimated at around £150,000.

Students at Newmarket College have started a petition against the mast which appeared about four months ago in Exning Road next to the school entrance and the new public swimming pool.

People living nearby complained they were not consulted and councillors were unaware of plans until the mast was put up.

Richard Spring, MP for Newmarket, has complained about the mast and has argued that it should not be outside a school.

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Forest Heath District Council has opened negotiations with mobile phone company O2 this week.

The council previously admitted that it slipped up by failing to respond to company's notification about the mast within the required 56-day time limit.

Richard Watson, the council's head of planning, had described the situation as "irretrievable", but councillors insisted that a concerted effort should be made to convince the company to find another site.

Angela Johnson, representing the company, met with senior officers and councillors last Tuesday and agreed to revisit a number of alternative site options for a possible relocation of the mast.

The mast is not yet operational and the council is hoping that the company will delay its intended switch-on date while talks continue.

Cllr Geoffrey Jaggard, council leader, said after the meeting: "It was a very positive discussion and, while there are no promises as yet and some complex issues, we are committed to working together to address public concerns."

Mrs Johnson, O2's community relations manager, said: "We have made no promises.

"But we will work with the district council to see if we can find a mutually acceptable new site.

"It's going to cost a lot of money and we haven't made any commitment."

Women admit making false benefit claims

TWO benefit cheats have been fined by magistrates at Mildenhall for claiming thousands of pounds which they were not entitled to.

Suzanne Harding, 42, of Clare Close, Mildenhall, received £4,218 in Council Tax and housing benefits even though she had received around £41,000 in a divorce settlement, Forest Heath District Council said.

She admitted failing to notify a change of circumstances and making a false statement to obtain benefit. She was fined £500 and ordered to pay £200 costs.

Wendy Foley, 48, of Carnation Way, Red Lodge, did not tell the council that she had started working and continued claiming housing and Council Tax benefits totalling £2,252.

She admitted failing to tell the council of a change of circumstances. She was fined £300 and ordered to pay £200 costs.

Mower gone

A LAWN mower was stolen from a garden after a thief damaged a fence.

The red Briggs and Stratton petrol-engined mower was stolen from a garden at Aureole Walk, on Newmarket's Studlands Park estate, between 10pm on Tuesday, May 13, and 5.30am the following day.

■ UNCARED FOR . . . pictures taken by Keith Paterson to illustrate his view that Newmarket is due for a clean-up.

How long must Newmarket suffer these planning gaffes?

Sir, We have lived in Newmarket since 1967 and feel it is due for a clean-up.

What visitors think when they arrive for a race meeting I cannot imagine.

While Ely has gone from strength to strength and Bury St Edmunds rightly claims to be a "floral town", poor Newmarket presents a picture of dereliction from one end of the High Street to the other.

One just wonders how long this thing will go on, with the planning gaffes and inaction (such as the Gredley-owned buildings) and the awful mess around the Clock Tower and car parks.

And I do feel sorry for the residents of Exning Road, an area which seems doomed to look like some dirty old industrial town, with its cheap hoardings, derelict gas board building and uncared-for flower tubs and illegal parking.

I was pleased to hear that something might be done for the "irretrievable" gaffe of the transmitter outside the college.

And I did hear that something was going to happen about the ludicrous speed restrictions. The cost of putting up 50-60 speed restriction signs and other markings – which no-one obeys – must have been quite great, apart from the environmental impact and danger of such things by the roadside. But it is Exning Road. It is an attitude that it doesn't matter. A slap in the face for the people living there.

"Well, most of them are council houses" must be at the back of the minds of the planners who let through such things.

Can one imagine the furore if cheap hoardings were allowed opposite houses in Hamilton Road? It is a residential area and people have to look at those things.

The latest gaffe is the felling of trees in the Bury and Fordham Roads, which has been done against the wishes of the planners, who seem too weak even to erect "no parking" signs on grass verges.

Clampdown on young drinkers

YOUNG drinkers are facing a police clampdown during the half-term school holiday.

Police in west Suffolk, including Newmarket and Haverhill, will be seizing alcoholic drinks from under-age youngsters.

In a previous campaign earlier this year officers seized more than 160 cans and bottles of alcoholic drinks.

Police and community support officers will be checking on areas where young people are known to gather.

They will confiscate any alcoholic drinks and arrest any youngsters who fail to co-operate.

Officers will also give youngsters advice about the dangers of alcohol which could put them at risk.

The campaign will start on Monday.

Iron Age relics at homes site

RELICS believed to date from the Iron Age have been found on the site of a new housing development.

Archaeologists have been carrying out tests on the former Bridge Farm Dairy site at Mildenhall which is being developed by Bellway Homes.

They found ditches and pits together with pottery, flint tools and animal bones which date back to the Iron Age.

Everything found on the five-acre site, which is being developed with 83 homes as The Retreat, is being recorded and some artefacts will be retained by the Suffolk County Council archaeology service.

The survey was being carried out before building work starts this summer. The development is due to be completed by winter 2009.

Protected trees axed by hasty developer

A COUNCIL has said it is "disappointed" that a developer cut down protected trees without permission.

Contractors moved onto the site at Arborfield, Fordham Road, Newmarket, while Forest Heath District Council was still considering an application to fell 18 trees to make way for a housing development.

People living nearby in St Albans and Weston Way objected when an application was submitted to remove the trees, which are the subject of a preservation order. Newmarket Town Council also objected strongly to the removal of the trees.

A previous application to build houses in what was originally the garden of the house known as Arborfield was opposed by planners.

Council officials confronted contractors after being alerted by residents.

A spokeswoman for Forest Heath District Council said: "The council is very disappointed with the approach the developer is taking on this site.

"All the trees are covered by Tree Preservation Orders and we arranged for an independent inspection of the trees on Thursday (May 8).

"Some of the trees are dead, dying or dangerous and these can be felled without waiting for planning consent.

"However, it is unfortunate that, instead of waiting 24 hours for the detailed report, the developer rushed ahead and felled dead, dying and dangerous trees.

"Some of the trees on the site are healthy and if they are removed this will be an offence which we will take very seriously."

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

The trees are in the garden of what was previously the home of Second World War Spitfire test pilot Alex Henshaw who died more than a year ago aged 94.

District councillors Warwick Hirst and Ian Radford went to the site on Monday, May 14, after being alerted by residents and were involved in "frank discussions" with people employed by the developer.

Cllr Hirst, a former mayor of Newmarket, said: "On this occasion Forest Heath did the right thing to try to save the trees and called for an independent survey.

"It's not a very courteous way for the developers to behave by going ahead to cut down the trees before we've had a chance to consider the report."

He said that at least three trees were cut down. But the issue would be considered by the district council's planning committee.

Peter Cornelissen, of St Albans, said: "It was very distressing and a huge concern when we heard the trees being cut down.

"Once the trees have gone there's not a lot you can do. It was unbelievable. We were expecting a review on the ground before anything happened.

"The developers came to a council meeting and listened to what the residents had to say and yet took no notice whatsoever of our views."

Young arms of the law

CHILDREN have helped police carry out speed checks by their school.

William Papworth, nine, and Ella Bullen, eight, used a speed check device with members of the Iceni Safer Neighbourhood Team outside Tuddenham Primary School, near Mildenhall.

Police Community Support Officer (PCSO) Dawn Rowan organised the checks after complaints of speeding outside the school.

Kathryn McMurtary, the headteacher, said: "We have very strong links with our PCSO Dawn, and she has helped to raise the profile of road safety in the area.

"We have a travel plan that aims to reduce the volume of school traffic and hope the general public will help by reducing their speed through the village."

Annual town meeting

PEOPLE living in Newmarket will have the chance to question town councillors at the annual town meeting on Tuesday.

The meeting is a yearly chance for residents to raise any issue of concern.

The meeting will be held in the Memorial Hall in the High Street at 6.30pm and will be followed, at 7.30pm, by the council's annual meeting when a new mayor will be elected by the councillors.

Councillor Bill Burch, the current mayor, is expected to stand down after a year in the post.

Laptop smash and grab

A THIEF smashed the window of a parked car to steal a laptop computer.

The black Volvo car was parked in Cricketfield Road, Newmarket, between midday and 2.30pm on Saturday, May 10.

Police have warned motorists against leaving valuable property in parked cars.

Anyone with information about the theft should call Pc Paula Gooch at Newmarket police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Floating fun is a corker

A CORK regatta will be held as part of a village fun day on Sunday.

Corks will be floated on the River Kennett in Moulton to start the activities at midday.

It will be the fifth year that the regatta has been held. Other attractions include horse-shoe throwing, a five-a-side football tournament and tug of war.

Yobs start hedge blaze

VANDALS set a hedge alight outside a house.

The top of the hedge was damaged in Grange Lane, Barton Mills, between midnight and 8am on Monday, May 12.

Anyone with information should call Pc Lesley Sloman at the Iceni Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Female reveller slapped by man

POLICE have appealed to nightclub revellers to help them trace a man who slapped a woman for no apparent reason.

The woman, aged 32, was sitting in De Niro's in Newmarket when the man approached her and hit her in the face. She suffered neck pain but did not need immediate medical treatment.

Police said the incident happened around midnight on Saturday, May 10.

Anyone with information should call Pc Emma Harper at Newmarket police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Probation for teen in burglary

A MOPED was used to "ram-raid" a convenience store, a court heard.

It was ridden against the door of the Londis store on Newmarket's Studlands Park estate when drink, condoms and other items worth more than £300 were stolen.

Azoun Limmage, 18, told police that his moped was used in the raid on January 11, although another youth rode it.

Limmage, who is serving part of an eight-month sentence for a burglary at a Newmarket sports shop, appeared at Bury St Edmunds magistrates' court for sentence for the Londis store break-in.

He told the court that he had asked for the convenience store offence to be considered when he was sentenced for the previous burglary.

But he said he was told that he could not have it as an offence "taken into consideration".

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

He told district judge David Cooper that he was due to be released from a young offenders' institution last Friday.

Limmage, formerly of Norwich, said he intended to live with his mother in Kennett when he was released.

He admitted the Londis burglary and asked the court to consider an offence of vehicle interference.

The judge imposed a 12- week sentence suspended for a year and made him the subject of supervision by the probation service for six months.

Limmage, who has previously used a variety of drugs, including crack cocaine, Ecstasy and ketamine, told the judge he hoped to join the Navy and convert to Catholicism.

Days are numbered for plastic carriers

MEMBERS of a group campaigning to cut the use of give-away plastic carrier bags are planning their next all-day ban.

The ReNew group in Newmarket, headed by Cllr Chris Turner, deputy mayor, has met to discuss the third day in the town when shops will be asked to withdraw free plastic bags.

It will be Sunday, June 1. Previous ban days have been held on May 1 and April 1.

The group, which has sponsorship from councils and environmental organisations, is planning to give away another 2,000 fabric bags to shoppers. So far 3,000 bags have been given away.

Prizes were given to five shoppers who arrived at shops with their own bags.

The campaign has been supported by the town's two main supermarkets, Waitrose and Tesco, and most of the shops in the town centre.

The June day is the final bag ban day planned this year.

Head sorts sick note spelling

A PRIMARY school head has come up with an acronym to help pupils and parents remember how to spell one of the most commonly misspelled words.

Kevin Bullock, head of Fordham Primary School and a national consultant, discovered that the word "diarrhoea" caused particular problems when parents had to write sick notes for their children.

He said: "It appears that many parents up and down the country will start to spell the word but after a few false starts, cross it out and then write tummy upset. It's possibly one of the most commonly misspelt words relating to pupil ailments that schools receive."

The acronym he suggests to help remember the right spelling was: "Dash In A Right Rush Hurry Or Expect Accident."

The school has just raised nearly £3,000 for the NSPCC in a two-week spellathon.

Racing history is up for grabs at Bonhams auction

In our weekly column, reporter JOHN GOODE takes a look behind the racing scene to bring you news from in and around the stables.

MEMORABILIA linked to legendary jockeys Lester Piggott and Fred Archer are among the items included in a major horseracing auction this summer.

Bonhams' third racing sale is due to be staged at Tattersalls, the racehorse auctioneers on Saturday, July 19.

A bronze of Lester Piggott, together with a watch commemorating Fred Archer's win in the 1881 Derby on American horse Iroquois are among the items in the sale.

The statue of Lester Piggott, who is currently featured in a special exhibition at Newmarket's National Horseracing Museum, has been given an estimate of between £400 and £600.

The top jockey, now 72, survived two heart scares last year and was honoured with a special race day at Newmarket racecourse last year.

His race record, which includes nine Derby wins, rivals that of Fred Archer in the 19th Century.

Fred Archer, whose grave is in Newmarket cemetery, won 2,748 races including 21 classics, shot himself at the age of 29.

A display commemorating him is also on display at the National Horseracing Museum.

The watch, which has a picture of him on the Derby-winning horse, is estimated at £1,200-£1,800.

Other items include the long tom whip owned by Captain Sir Cecil Boyd Rochfort, who trained horses at Newmarket for King George VI and the Queen as well as the saddlecloth worn by Golden Fleece, the winner of the 1982 Derby, which is estimated to sell for £1,500-£2,500.

Racing colours are also being sold by the British Horseracing Authority with unusual plain terracotta silks on offer for £50,000 to £60,000.

The sale includes a selection of photographs of eccentric racehorse owner Dorothy Paget.

■ ECCENTRIC . . . a cartoon of Dorothy Paget and, below, the lady herself.

Trainer plans 28 horse boxes

A TOP racehorse trainer is planning to build extra stables to bring all his horses to the same yard.

James Fanshawe has applied for planning permission to build an additional 28 horse boxes at his historic Pegasus Stables, in Snailwell Road, Newmarket.

The horse boxes are to be arranged in two semi-circles around a lunging pit on the 10-acre site.

The plan is to bring all the horses he trains together. Currently some are stabled at La Grange further along Snailwell Road.

Pegasus Stables, originally known as Falmouth Lodge, were built for legendary jockey Fred Archer in the 1880s. Subsequent owners have included the boss of the former Maples furniture business.

Mr Fanshawe took out a lease on the stables in 1988 and bought them in 1994.

Forest Heath District Council is considering his application for planning permission.

Your wedding doesn't have to be costly to be a delight

YOUR wedding day will be one of the most memorable days of your life but also one of the most expensive. Here are some handy tips to help you stay in budget on your special day.

Find out when and where your nearest wedding exhibition is and go along to find a bargain dress. If there isn't a show near you, visit all your local bridal shops and find out when the next sale is. Look at the bridal collections in high street stores – they're often reasonably priced.

The groom's and best man's outfits can be hired to cut down costs from a local supplier.

Instead of buying expensive wedding shoes, look for something you'll wear again or buy an inexpensive pair so it doesn't matter if you never wear them again!

Have your hair cut and styled at a salon's model night. If you decide to do your make-up yourself, go for a make-up trial at a local department store, and wait until there is an offer to buy your chosen cosmetics.

Use a good photographer, but only for a few crucial hours. Alternatively, treat yourself to a good digital camera and ask someone you really trust to be your photographer. That way, you get your wedding photos at a price you can afford, and you can keep the camera for future memories.

Ask a friend who has a great car to drive you to the ceremony. Alternatively, if you live close to the church and you're getting married in the summer you can walk!

When booking your wedding and reception, remember it's cheaper to book in advance, for a week day or book out of season in the autumn or winter.

Consider having your reception in a village hall and decorate the walls and ceiling with a marquee lining.

Be ruthless and keep the numbers down. If you want to invite a lot of people to your wedding, invite more for the evening do after the meal. This way you won't have to spend so much on food. Alternatively, have a small wedding and throw a big party when you get back from honeymoon for friends who you weren't able to invite.

Catering for a wedding can be very expensive. Try contacting your local catering college and see if you can sort out a deal with the students. They might be able to do the job for you as part of their exam work. Stick to a simple menu such as sausages and mash and serve your wedding cake for pudding.

Buy simple, white, iced cakes from a supermarket and have a go at decorating them yourself, or ask your florist to decorate with fresh flowers.

■ FRIENDS . . . can do many jobs for to make your wedding a big success.

■ WEDDING FAIRS . . . help cut the cost.

Have a buffet instead of a sit down meal. You're likely to need fewer waiting staff which should cut down on costs.

Instead of using flowers as decoration, use balloons to brighten up the reception.

If you really want flowers, make sure they're in season. Ask a friend to make your bouquet, and stick to simple table arrangements. Ornate arrangements that require wiring the flowers will always be more expensive.

Find out if there are other weddings taking place at your ceremony and reception venues and see if you can share any flowers.

Give yourself plenty of time and make your own wedding invitations.

Patients give hospital food for thought

BY John Morgan
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

HOSPITAL patients have given glowing ratings for care and food at Papworth and Hinchingbrooke – but they are less impressed with Addenbrooke's.

Inpatients across the UK rated the country's 165 acute NHS trusts on overall care, food and whether they stayed in single-sex wards in a survey for the Healthcare Commission. The independent health watchdog released the results last week.

Papworth was ranked sixth for care, sixth for food and 21st for same-sex wards.

Hinchingbrooke continued to impress, despite its £38.7 million debt, coming 46th for care, 16th for food and 65th for same-sex wards.

Addenbrooke's, a major teaching hospital and foundation trust which built up a surplus of nearly £10 million in the last financial year, was ranked 80th for care and 97th for food. The hospital ranked 19th on same-sex wards.

In individual categories, Hinchingbrooke was in the top 20 per cent of trusts for confidence in the hospital's doctors, being involved in decisions about treatment and having someone to talk to about concerns and worries.

Despite spending less per patient on food than Addenbrooke's, Hinchingbrooke beat its larger neighbour.

But it was in the bottom 20 per cent for length of time taken from seeing a GP about referral to admission to hospital.

Mark Millar, Hinchingbrooke's chief executive, said: "Our staff should be very proud of the fact that our patients think we are doing extremely well in a number of areas, and we will be looking at the results in more detail to identify and address any issues our patients may be having with their care."

Brenda Hennessy, director of patient experience at Addenbrooke's, said the survey highlighted areas for improvement.

She said: "We're pleased that patients felt that doctors kept them informed about their treatment, and the feedback on single-sex facilities was encouraging.

"The information used to calculate these ratings was collected last July.

"A more recent survey, which had a bigger sample size than the Healthcare Commission research, found that 80 per cent of our inpatients were happy with the food, and 94 per cent said we met or exceeded their expectations with regard to overall care."

Claire Tripp, director of nursing at Papworth, said: "We're absolutely thrilled. We did well in just about all areas. It is a tribute to staff and patients to keep these standards so high. Scoring high for privacy and dignity was particularly positive.

"We continue to work with our patient experience department to make sure we can sustain this and continue to deliver for patients, and not rest on our laurels or be complacent."

Golfers' donation opens doors for homeless

GOLFERS are helping the homeless by giving a donation to charity.

Terry Waite, president of Newmarket-based Open Door, received a cheque for £2,500 from members of Newmarket's Links Golf Club.

Mike Denley, golf club captain for last year, said: "On behalf of the club we would like to thank the charity committee, the generosity of our members and local businesses who helped to make several donations to good causes."

Barbara Coe, the Ladies' Captain 2007, said: "We ran a number of events including an auction, golf days, putting competitions and a charity day. Thanks to all the members, local businesses and Camelot for their generous donations and making the past year such a great success."

The money will go towards the running costs of the charity which provides flats for young people between the ages of 16 and 30, operates a council-owned hostel for homeless families and also runs the Anglia Foodbank which provides food for needy families and individuals.

UB40 gig is back on the bill

MULTI-CULTURAL reggae band UB40 are back on the bill for this summer's concerts after racing at Newmarket.

The band have been booked to replace James Morrison who pulled out of his Friday, July 25, date due to recording commitments.

UB40 were previously booked for the previous Friday, July 18. But they withdrew after a split with lead singer Ali Campbell.

Now they are due to perform with Ali's brother, Duncan Campbell as the new lead singer, and special guest Maxi Priest.

Stephen Wallis, managing director of Newmarket Racecourses, said: "We are thrilled that UB40 will be performing at our 2008 Newmarket Nights.

"The group played at Epsom Live! in 2006 and Sandown Park in 2007 and were hugely popular and fun on both occasions. I am sure they will be a great success here at Newmarket."

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

The band, formed more than 25 years ago, has had a plethora of hits including Red, Red Wine, I Got You Babe and Can't Help Falling in Love.

Maxi Priest joined the UB40 tour at the end of last year and is continuing with the band this year.

So far two of the nights at Newmarket have sold out. There are no tickets available for Canadian rocker Bryan Adams, who opens the seven-night series on Friday, June 20, or Girls Aloud's show on July 18.

Other confirmed acts include Madness, Boyzone and Jools Holland.

For ticket details visit www.newmarketracecourses.co.uk or call (01638) 675500.

Villagers on right track in big walk

VILLAGERS put their best feet forward to help raise money for community organisations.

Burwell Big Walk was part of the build-up to the village's annual carnival, which will be held on Saturday, June 28.

Sunday's annual walk was a family event and money raised goes into the carnival fund which is subsequently distributed to village organisations.

More than 100 people took part in the walk which this year included two new routes around the village and a scavenger hunt to keep youngsters interested.

There were routes of different lengths to suit people of all levels of fitness.

Last year the carnival and the build-up events raised £7,000 which was shared by 20 local groups.

■ STEPPING OUT . . . Burwell Big Walk organiser John Rollins, left, with one of the families taking part, Jo and Mark Newcombe, and children Alice, nine, and William, four. Picture: Richard Patterson 486404.

Three fight for vacant seat

THREE candidates will contest a vacant seat on Forest Heath District Council at a by-election on June 5.

The election at Red Lodge has been called following the resignation of Steven James after less than a year on the council.

Mr James, a Conservative, stood down to concentrate on his business after getting a racehorse trainer's licence.

Now three parties have put up candidates for the seat.

The candidates are: David Chandler, of Shrubhouse Close, Beck Row (UKIP); Alan Hirji, of Magnolia Close, Red Lodge (Conservative); and Pat McCloud, of Heatherset Way, Red Lodge (Lib Dem).

Fete in aid of pre-school

A FAMILY fete will raise money for Stepping Stones Pre-School in Exning.

The fete at the pre-school's premises behind the village school will raise money towards the running costs.

It will be held on Saturday, May 31, between 2pm and 5pm, and will include a Punch and Judy show, bouncy castle and magic show.

Give your kitchen a refreshing feel with Change Your Doors

ADVERTISING FEATURE

HOUSEHOLDERS can save the expense of a costly kitchen refit with the latest business to support the Weekly News "Buy Local" campaign.

■ LOCAL FIRM . . . Colin Armond, Owner of 'Change Your Doors' kitchen revamp company based in Fordham, who is supporting the Weekly News "Buy Local" campaign.

■ GREAT SERVICE . . . a whole new kitchen without the usual hassle.

Change Your Doors does exactly as its name suggests – provides new doors and other fittings to update a kitchen which has sound cabinet carcasses.

Owner of Change Your Doors, Colin Armond, is celebrating his first year of business this month. Colin has years of experience working in the construction industry and decided to test the market for doors produced at his brother Roger's business based in Essex.

Colin says: "It's been going pretty well and we have been getting referrals from our satisfied customers. The service is also attractive for people wanting to make their home more appealing to buyers as well as those just wanting a new look for their kitchen.

"We can supply and fit at reasonable rates or we can supply the doors for DIY. There's the minimum of disruption – not like having a whole kitchen fitted. We also supply and fit worktops, cornice and lighting pelmet to complete the look."

For more information call Change Your Doors on (01638) 720470.

■ DIY . . . the stylish doors can be supplied so you can fit them yourself.

Abandoned dog left tied to a tree

A DOG was abandoned outside a veterinary surgery in what could almost have been a scene from a Disney film.

The female Dalmatian, which had recently had pups, was left attached to a tree outside the Aquarius vets' in Field Road, Mildenhall, on Monday.

Kayley Amoss, receptionist at the centre, found the dog when she arrived for work with head nurse Eleanor Greene.

She said: "She was just asleep in the flowers and seemed to be in good health apart from some bleeding where she had obviously given birth, but there was no sign of any puppies."

The dog had a collar, without a name and had not been microchipped.

Staff at the centre named her Maple – after the tree where she was found. She will be kept at kennels for two weeks before efforts are made to rehome her.

The vets are urging the owner to contact them on (01638) 717871.

Police take action in clampdown on illegal parking in town centre

DRIVERS are facing a clampdown on illegal parking in Mildenhall town centre.

Police and community support officers will be handing out more £30 parking tickets.

The Mildenhall Safer Neighbourhood Team has received numerous complaints of illegal parking from the public and councillors. The main areas of concern are King Street, St Andrews Street and the High Street in Mildenhall.

Officers said drivers stop on the road to use the bank cash machines and "nip in to the shops".

Acting Sergeant Peter Maxfield said: "In an ideal world it would be nice not to issue any parking tickets, however, a minority of drivers are flouting the parking regulations, which is having an adverse effect on traffic flow and the safety of pedestrians in the town centre.

"It would seem that the only solution left is a period of elevated enforcement. There really is no excuse for illegal parking in Mildenhall as there is sufficient parking available, it is all free and in close proximity to the town's amenities."

Parish councillor George Hayes said: "This action is being taken due to the high level of complaints received from parishioners and I fully support the police in tackling this persistent problem.

"It is a concern for many residents in Mildenhall, affecting the safety of pedestrians and other motorists alike."

■ SPECIAL DAY . . . 94-year-old Lilly Baker cuts the cake, with her daughter Margaret Moss, centre, and, from left, members of the Burwell Royal British Legion women's section, Sarah Cheeseman, Jenny Kempton, Kay Brooks and Phylis Sanford.

Group celebrates 60th anniversary

MEMBERS of a village's Royal British Legion women's section celebrated its 60th anniversary – and one of the original members was able to join in.

A special service was held at St Mary's Church, Burwell, to mark the anniversary and was followed by a celebration tea at the village's Gardiner memorial Hall.

Lilly Baker, one of the first members who is now in her 90s, was brought from the Hilton Park care centre at Bottisham, where she now lives, to take part.

Jenny Kempton, the branch chairman and standard bearer, said: "It was a big branch when it first started. Now we're down to 10 members and we meet in my house. But we're going to keep going."

Mrs Kempton, 70, of Hawthorn Way, Burwell, was persuaded to join the group after the death of her husband. "I haven't looked back since," she said.

The women's section helps to raise money for the Royal British Legion through the annual Poppy appeal and other events including jumble sales and cake stalls.

Anyone interested in joining the group should contact Mrs Kempton on (01638) 604251.

Fence was set on fire

VANDALS set fire to a garden fence.

The fence, at the back of a house in Riverside Close, Mildenhall, was damaged when the fire broke out between 4pm and 5pm on Sunday.

The fire is believed to have been started deliberately.

Anyone with information should call Pc Daniel Smyth at Mildenhall Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Action plan in the pipeline over pollution levels in High Street

MEASURES to cut air pollution may be introduced in a busy High Street after high levels of nitrogen dioxide were detected.

An Air Quality Management Area may be declared covering Newmarket High Street and nearby Old Station Road after annual monitoring showed excessive levels.

Members of the Forest Heath District Council's community services committee have been told that the higher than normal levels of nitrogen dioxide were detected in 2006.

Defra, the Department for Environment Food and Rural Affairs, asked for a detailed assessment to be carried out.

A specialist company, TRL Ltd, carried out the assessment in March looking at traffic as well as commercial and domestic sources.

The community services committee was told that a draft report by the company indicated "a strong possibility" that the council would have to declare an AQMA – Air Quality Management Area.

Councillors heard that the declaration would have "major implications" for the council which would involve drawing up an action plan to reduce the pollution.

A further analysis of the latest air testing results will be carried out before a further report on the issue is presented to councillors.

Picture: Richard Marsham 484820.

Community charities see the benefit of council's funding

GRANTS totalling £25,000 have been awarded to community organisations.

Forest Heath District Council received applications for £46,525 but had to limit the awards to its budget of £25,000 for "care in the community" organisations.

Among the largest awards was The Voluntary Network, which runs Dial-a-Ride bus services and other community schemes in the district.

It received £3,000.

Gatehouse, a charity which runs a furniture recycling project, and the St John's Day Centre in Mildenhall, received two grants totalling £5,500.

Newmarket Open Door, a charity for the homeless, was awarded £2,000 and The Stable community centre in Newmarket High Street received £2,500.

The awards were presented by Cllr Stephen Edwards, chairman of the council's corporate services committee.

Snatch a part

LOCAL theatre group Fledgling Productions is holding auditions for parts in its next show Academy of Death.
The musical is the work of local composer Geoff Page and is set in the age of the body snatchers.
There will be an introductory evening on Monday at 8.30pm in the Methodist Church Hall, Sturton Street, Cambridge, and auditions on Tuesday and Wednesday.
The show will be at the Mumford Theatre in October. For details call (01223) 561744.

Flowery folk

TRADITIONAL English folk singer Chris Wood is at the Mayflower Folk Club at Cambridge's Portland Arms on Mitcham's Corner on Tuesday.
The guitarist, singer and violin player has toured the world, and formed the English Acoustic Collective to support young musicians.
Support comes from sisters Bryony, Alex and Grace Lemon who perform Irish folk music.
Doors open at 8.15pm and tickets are £12. To book call (01223) 500092.

Summer start

ANGLIA Chorale and Chamber Orchestra will launch Anglia Ruskin University's 2008 summer programme of music tomorrow.
The performance at the city's All Saints' Church will include Vaughan Williams' Fantasia on Greensleeves, and Handel's Dettingen Te Deum.
It starts at 8pm and tickets are £5-£8. Call 0845 1962320 to book.

Continental groups add touch of brass

THE annual All England Masters International Brass Band Festival returns to Cambridge's Corn Exchange on Sunday.
The event has taken place annually at the venue since 1989 and this year is set to become an international event with bands from Switzerland, Belgium, France, and Holland taking part alongside groups from the UK.
At 7.45pm, the Gala Evening Concert will feature 16-times British Open and nine-times national champions The Fairey Band and 2005 All England Masters champions The Scottish Co-op.
Cornet player Russell Gray will be the guest soloist.
"We take great pride in presenting an international brass band music festival in Cambridge each year and the 2008 event promises to be the most spectacular yet," said Philip Biggs, one of the event organisers.
"It is a wonderful opportunity for all local enthusiasts to witness the finest brass playing anywhere in the world.
"Demand for tickets is already exceptional, with many parties travelling from Continental countries."
Tickets for the evening Gala Concert are £13-£17. To book call (01223) 357851.

The importance of being a Young One

By Nik Shelton

THE Importance of Being Earnest went down a storm at the Cambridge Arts Theatre last year and now there's a chance to see the play that inspired it.
Dion Boucicault's London Assurance was a major influence on Oscar Wilde.
Featuring all the farcical devices of mistaken identity, exaggerated characters and misunderstanding, the 160 year old play proves true comedy is timeless.
It stars Christopher Ryan – known to many for his roles in The Young Ones, Bottom and Absolutely Fabulous – and who has earnt his place as one of the country's finest comic actors.
"This came first so I think Wilde might have taken something from it," Ryan says.
"He has slipped from people's minds now but at the time he was very well known. He had a big personality and was always having affairs, he made fortunes, lost fortunes, was sued for plagiarism. It would be interesting to make a play about his life."
Ryan's character goes by the name of Adolphus Spanker, something which tickled him as soon as he heard it.
"His wife's name is even funnier – she's called Lady Gay Spanker. There are great names in here and like in Johnson and Shakespeare the names reveal something about the character. So there's Dazzle, a major character who pulls the strings of everything and Meddle who is a lawyer.
"Although I have to say that Spanker isn't in fact a spanker."

■ ASSURED . . . Christopher Ryan and Geraldine McNulty. CP.

The perennial popularity of The Young Ones ensures people still shout lines from his character Mike The Cool Person at him.
Nearly 25 years ago he entered the show as the only cast member who wasn't already an established comedian and had no idea of the major impact it would have on viewers.
"I just thought it was another job," he says. "We only did 12 episodes, six in 1982 and another six in 1984. We had no idea how it would be received.
"At the time it was new and it was a different take on comedy. It came on a wave of things just as before there was the Pythons and The Goons. Every generation has these shows."
■ London Assurance is on at the Arts Theatre from Tuesday to Saturday, May 31, at 7.45pm. Tickets are £10-£20. To book call (01223) 503333.

Aries Mar 21 - Apr 20

This week you'll notice others being much more receptive to you. Perhaps this is because you've learned to temper your opinions with an element of humour and getting your ideas across without causing offence will serve you well.

Taurus Apr 21 - May 21

Beware of being too domineering with a lover or child. If someone you love proposes a fun outing, accept immediately. Your ability to abandon work for fun will make a tremendous difference to your relationship.

Gemini May 22 - Jun 21

Your powers of attraction have never been stronger. If you've got your eye on someone, now is the time to make your move. Sending mixed signals could prevent the relationship from blossoming, but you'll have lots of time to declare your feelings.

Cancer Jun 22 - Jul 23

Being with loved ones gives you lots of pleasure. You may be helping a sick friend or relative. They appreciate your caring ways, but may not act thankful at first. You'll have to try several approaches before hitting on the one that works for both of you.

Leo Jul 24 - Aug 23

Idealism is the most attractive thing about you. Refuse to give in when others want to jump ship. A person you idealised is starting to get on your nerves. Maybe you have unrealistic expectations. Try to ease up a bit. Nobody's perfect.

Open weekend at new, eco-friendly development

PARKERS Mill is a new development in Mildenhall, first purchased by Freshwater Estates (UK) in 2006.
It is a superb scheme of mixed housing that has been thoughtfully designed and offers an excellent opportunity to live in the heart of the town.
The large, late 19th Century mill is a strong feature of the locality and has been sympathetically restored to provide stylish apartments, whilst retaining the building's character and many of its original features.
A river runs through the beautifully landscaped communal garden and allocated parking comes with each apartment.
Now, a further site is being developed to the rear of The Mill, which will consist of two-bedroom apartments as well as detached family houses with two, three and four bedrooms.
The development is currently under construction, and prices range from £145,000-£350,000.
In addition to the this exciting work, Freshwater Estates have taken on another related project for the benefit of all residents and potential residents of Parkers Mill.

it was discovered, whilst surveying The Mill, that it had once been responsible for generating electricity in Mildenhall in the early 1900s.
Three derelict turbines were found, one of which was in a better state than the others, giving Freshwater Estates the idea to put the turbine back into action and supply electricity to The Mill once more.
After looking at the infrastructure of the building and employing hydro generation specialists Segen, they found that not only was there potential to generate enough energy for 29 dwellings, but it would also give the building carbon neutral status.
Tomorrow, after major renovation and engineering works, the turbine will be started and begin to generate electricity for the first time in 80 years.
This electricity will in turn be sold back to the residents of the building at a reduced cost.
There will be an open weekend from Saturday to Monday, May 24-26, where the public can view the completed properties and see the turbine in action.
Feel free to drop by between 10am and 4pm.
For further details please visit www.parkersmill.com, or contact John Lorimer of Chapman Lorimer Oakes on (01223) 460000.

Touareg's a refined adventure

FIRST DRIVE

Pampering to 4x4 limits!

RODNEY TIBBS

IF you were keen on polishing up your green credentials I don't think the Touareg R50 would be your first choice.

What is remarkable about the Touareg is that in spite of a concerted programme of taxation and social vilification directed against large and thirsty 4x4's it continues to sell in such numbers.

Almost as though it was totally unaware of what the neighbours are saying about itt, Volkswagen has decided to substantially upgrade the Touareg and, leaving the politicking aside, has come up with a remarkable machine.

Remarkable because it manages to combine almost indecent luxury with breathtaking power and performance. It is only when you look at the CO2 emissions (333g/km) and fuel consumption (22.4mpg if you are lucky) that the downside may intrude.

The biggest feature of this new car is the lump under the bonnet. This is a 5.0-litre diesel V10 which produces 348bhp with a 0-62 performance of 6.7 seconds. The test car cost £61,990 so you would expect a readout on the dash telling you of instant fuel consumption. Try as I might I could not lift it much above 14mpg!

In essence the R50 is really a reply to the top-of-the-range Porsche Cayenne – a wannabe luxury sports car even though it is a giant off-roader. My own view is that cars of this type merely extend what you can do with sufficient money. So the Touareg would enable you pass through swamp, desert and rainforest without ever being aware of the heat, dust and flies outside.

Its list of kit is formidable. There is every type of electronic drive and stabilisation programme imaginable plus continuous damping, auto self-levelling, speed sensitive height adjustment, adaptive roll compensation and so on.

■ THE VOLKSWAGEN TOUAREG R50 . . . large, powerful and extremely luxurious 4x4.

Pampering the occupants are front seats with electric 12 way adjustment and memory, electrically adjusted steering column plus satnav with colour screen and six-disc autochanger. And discreet 'R' symbols all over the place.

Remarkably the weight and complication is not allowed to interfere with handling and performance. It's easier to use up a mountain track than an invalid carriage on a marble surface.

BASICALLY . . .

A large, powerful and extremely luxurious 4x4 with smoked glass to shield any blushes from the outside world. It's got everything and does everything as you would expect from something costing £60k.

VERDICT

Volkswagen Touareg R50

■ TOP OF THE TABLE . . . green Toyota Prius.

Prius owners are the happiest drivers of all

THE HYBRID electric Toyota Prius is not only tops for being a "green" car but is also the vehicle drivers are most happy with, a major customer-satisfaction survey has revealed.

The ultra-low emission vehicle was the highest-ranking model in a UK vehicle satisfaction survey from information company JD Power and Associates and What Car? magazine.

The Prius scored 901 points out of a possible 1,000 in a survey of more than 16,000 car owners who had had their vehicles for an average of two years.

A total of 100 models were assessed for four measures of satisfaction – quality and reliability, vehicle appeal, dealer service satisfaction and ownership costs.

After the Prius, the next highest mark – of 872 – went to the Honda Jazz, with the Lexus IS scoring 861.

The top manufacturer – as opposed to the top individual model of vehicle – was Lexus which scored 866 points, with Skoda second on 846, Honda third on 844 and Toyota fourth on 836.

At the bottom of the list were Fiat (744 points), Mitsubishi (775) and Chevrolet (779).

What Car? editor Steve Fowler said: "The Prius already has iconic status because of its green credentials; now it's demonstrating that it's also the watchword for reliability and satisfaction.

"It delivers on many of the points that matter most to car buyers today: it's environmentally friendly and reasonably frugal, yet it's also reliable and a great car to own."

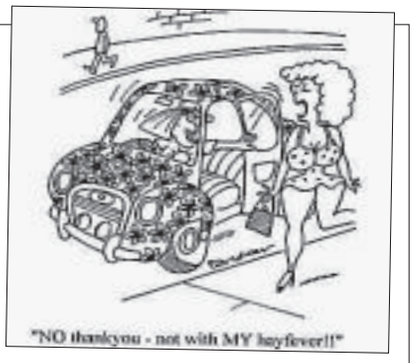
Diesel cars in hayfever fears, top expert says



DIESEL cars are making Cambridge's city dwellers' lives a misery, Kleenex consultant allergy expert Dr Adrian Morris warns this week.

The pollen binds itself to cars' exhaust residue, making it more likely to induce hayfever. The heavy diesel exhaust particles then carry the pollen residue deep into people's airways.

With diesel vehicles currently totalling around 40 per cent of new cars being sold, this is a massive problem for hayfever sufferers, who make up around 65 per cent of Cambridge's population, according to the research carried out by Kleenex.

The revelation comes as nearly nine in 10 people (86 per cent) said they believed they were safer from the symptoms of hayfever in the city than in the countryside, where the condition was first coined as pollen binds itself to hay.

Dr Morris explains: "It used to be hay that pollen would bind itself to but what most people don't know is that today it is the diesel exhaust residue on cars. With the amount of diesel cars constantly increasing, especially in cities, this is a massive problem for the UK's many hayfever sufferers.

"It's beneficial to release the pollen from your respiratory system so it's essential that you're prepared whenever you're out and about by taking antihistamines, a pocket pack of tissues and a bottle of water with you at all times."

DR. MORRIS'S TOP TIPS FOR AVOIDING HAYFEVER HELL

- Let it out – gently blowing your nose will help eradicate the pollen grains and diesel residue from your respiratory system
- Applying a little petroleum jelly to the lower nostrils will also help
- Try and avoid both heavily congested traffic areas and parks
- Don't forget your tissues, antihistamines and water when you're out and about

Self-fit sensor is valuable aid for reversing

■ SAFELY PARKED . . . Cambridge resident Hilary Goy with her Renault Clio.

JUST for me! They could have developed it just for me! A reasonably priced parking sensor – fit it yourself – to warn you when something's too near the rear of your car, writes Hilary Goy.

Well, nearly . . . the sensors fit easily onto the boot lid and stick on fine. The cables then slide under the boot edge and connect to the unit – a torpedo shape in blue and silver plastic – and blue tack did the job for in-boot fixing . . . this is not for the car proud. The unit then sits anywhere you like.

The first one didn't work with the batteries, or rather produced a high-pitched whine which reminded me of Gran's hearing aid in the 1950s. There is a plug-in alternative, so that's what we did, but wireless it is not. The wire trails elegantly down the length of the interior to the cigarette lighter. No problem as long as you don't have any passengers you actually like . . .

The unit needed a little time to settle in. It emitted an unexplained plaintive cry as I drove along the Backs with nothing in sight and was rather petulant for a couple of days. Soon enough however, it started to behave; as I backed into my driveway it emitted soft beeps, which become louder and louder until finally an urgent note screamed at me, warning me to brake unless I wanted a new window in place of the brick holding my house in place – I braked.

■ EASY TO INSTALL . . . the £29.99 rear parking kit involves two sensors like this adhered to the back of your car. They're easy to fix and look discreet from the outside but – see below – from the inside there's lots of trailing wires.

The good points to this little gizmo are many. For example it lets you know when anything is too close to the back of the car, once even a large swooping bird! It does so in gradations so you have an idea of the urgency of the situation.

Unfortunately, the on/off switch is inconveniently placed with the unit sitting behind the driver's seat so I got into the habit of pulling the power out of the cigar socket. I also found that the beeps can be a little random while the unit is in operation.

Otherwise this low-cost rear parking sensor is well worth considering!

■ The JML Parking Sensor plus free grab mat is available price £29.99 from www.jmldirect.com or by phone on 0871 221 2677 9am-5pm Monday to Friday.

■ NOT IDEAL . . . it's a cheap unit, and it works, but it's a tad inelegant.

Volvo's revolutionary City Safety wins award

VOLVO'S new City Safety system which helps avoid or reduce the severity of low-speed collisions has won the "Technology" category at the Fleet World Honours Awards 2008 in London last week – its first UK award.

City Safety will be introduced as a world-first standard feature in the new Volvo XC60, which arrives in UK showrooms in October.

At speeds of under 19mph, City Safety uses laser sensor technology to detect vehicles up to 10 metres in front of the car's front bumper and reacts to vehicles in front that are either at a standstill or are moving slowly in the same direction as the car itself. If the gap between the cars continues to close and the driver remains inactive, the car applies the brakes automatically.

City Safety's potential for reducing the risk of both personal injuries and car bodywork damage is significant and may also cut insurance costs, as Volvo is currently involved in a dialogue with insurance companies regarding lower insurance premiums for cars equipped with City Safety.

Commenting on the award, chairman of judges George Emmerson said: "Volvo's commitment to researching and developing ground-breaking technologies has led to a number of safety milestones. City Safety is among the cleverest so far, predicting when low-speed accidents will happen and preventing them from occurring. City Safety will offer fleets financial, operational and social benefits that deserve recognition."

John Wallace, Volvo Car UK's corporate sales and leasing manager, says: "With 75 per cent of all reported collisions take place at speeds of under 18mph, and in 50 per cent of these cases the driver has not braked before the collision, it's easy to see the potential City Safety has in reducing incidents of this kind."

■ THE VOLVO XC60 . . . is the first car to feature this technology.

■ CONTROL . . . it brakes if the car needs to.

■ THE CADILLAC CTS-V IN GERMANY . . . very respectable time.

Cadillac breaks 'Ring milestone

IN testing this week at Germany's Nurburgring, Cadillac's upcoming new 2009 CTS-V completed a lap of the legendary Nordschleife in 7:59.32.

This blistering time appears to be the fastest ever publicly documented for a production saloon.

Cadillac is nearing the completion of testing for the highly anticipated CTS-V, the limited-edition high-performance model based on the award-winning CTS sport saloon. John Heinricy, director of vehicle integration and an acclaimed racing driver, piloted the CTS-V through its sub-8 minute lap. The car itself had no performance modifications outside of those planned for consumer production, which is scheduled to begin this autumn.

Estimated at 542bhp, the CTS-V is going through the final stages of testing and development. One of the objectives of the Cadillac team is to make the CTS-V the world's fastest production saloon, as a part of the overall goal to make the V-Series Cadillac's performance and technology brand.

More information about the CTS-V will be made available closer to launch, expected to be in the coming summer months.

US steps up invasion of UK market

■ JOURNEY TIME . . . US marques want to make a big impression in the UK.

JAPANESE car makers gained a toehold on the British market back in the 1970s, a foothold in the 1980s, and today it is very much one of their strongholds.

Now it's the turn of American brands, with more and more of them bringing their bold, brash designs to muscle in on more UK sales.

There's always been a Ford presence, and Vauxhall belongs to US global rival, GM. But the more iconic Stateside marques, such as Dodge, Hummer, and Corvette, are pushing for more of a presence here.

Then there's Chrysler, Dodge's sibling, which has long held a British base – the badge has steadily ditched purely European cars, like the Neon, in favour of Europeanised American saloons, such as the statuesque 300C.

The take-up of transatlantic offerings has so far been steady, but the US invasion hasn't yet hit top gear. Interestingly, it has brought with it a clear division of design approach – American cars have real attitude, while European and Far Eastern fare is much easier on the eye.

Dodge is bringing even more attitude here this August, with the launch of its all-new Journey crossover.

Chunky, instantly recognisable looks set it apart from the more flowing forms of other crossover rivals, and while fuel economy looks to be competitive, rather than market leading, the Journey does come with masses of interior space for the money.

The five-plus-two seating arrangement is also standard across the five-strong range, with engine choices down to a 2.4-litre petrol engine, or a 2.0-litre diesel.

The petrol has a five-speed gearbox, while the oil-burner offers either a six-speed manual or dual-clutch six-speed automatic.

Family-friendly fitments include tilt and slide second-row seats and rear doors that open 90 degrees for easy access when installing child seats.

Prices will start from £16,995, and Dodge says every model represents 10 per cent better value than the similarly engined/equipped rivals.

For example, the entry-level SE model comes with three-zone climate control, a tilt and telescope steering wheel, a tyre pressure monitor, powered, heated and folding wing mirrors, all-electric windows, and a six-disc CD with MP3 compatibility.

Simon Elliott, managing director of Chrysler UK, says the Journey will go down well with families who don't want the look of a people carrier, but need the functionality of one.

"The Journey is unmistakably Dodge, with powerful exterior styling," he says, but stresses that it's not just about the look.

"The Dodge Journey offers a versatility and flexibility with bags of interior space. Families that need space for seven will love the flexible seating, spacious storage bins and under-seat storage areas.

"Safety is also important, and with electronic stability and three-row side curtain airbags, this really is the ideal family vehicle."

Finally, while on the subject of crossover vehicles, but switching back to home territory, Europe, Renault says its new 4x4 crossover, Koleos, will be priced from £17,995 to £24,695.

It goes on sale in British showrooms on July 4.

■ SUNSHINE . . . the Ferrari California.

Ferrari gets a taste of California

FERRARI has brought a famous name back to its model line up and released images of a sensational looking new car – the Ferrari California.

Joining the latest Ferrari "family" of cars, the California is a drop-top effort that looks as though it will sit near the 599 in the line-up, although it's a very different car.

As it is a Ferrari, you should expect the handling to be none-too-shabby (a huge understatement) with performance to match. Using a brand new V8, the engine will be in front of the cabin but set as far back behind the front axle as possible so it can't truly be called front-engined. In fact Ferrari has created a new term for it, originally titled, "front-mid". This 4.3-litre engine will power the car from 0-62mph in less than 4.0 seconds thanks to 454bhp, a rear wheel drive layout, seven speed dual clutch gear box and exceptionally clever F1-Trac traction control system. Bringing it all to an exceptionally quick stop are the carbon-ceramic brakes.

Both the chassis and bodywork will be made from aluminium to keep body weight at a minimum which means that the California will only come with a folding hard-top, a first for Ferrari, and not be too heavy.

More details will be released in the run-up to its launch at the Paris Motor Show this October.

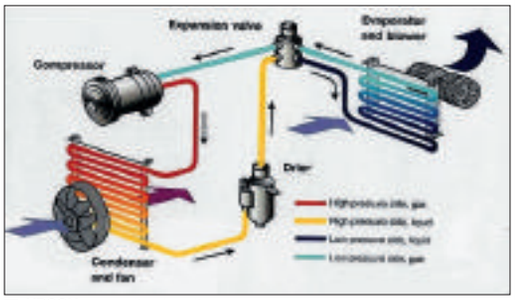
MOTORING

Air conditioning needs to be used!

BACTERIA and mould can build up over the winter in a car's air conditioning system, which could be the reason for a driver's summer cold, says UK used car group Carcraft.

Motorists use air conditioning more in the summer, but leaving it dormant during the winter can allow nasty bugs to thrive in the system leading to unpleasant odours and a spreading of these bacteria through the car when the air conditioning is switched back on. Using your air conditioning all year round, says Carcraft, will help maintain the system and keep it in better shape.



■ AIRCON . . . use it or lose it.

A competitive package – if you can make our packaging competitive...

Barway Site, Ely, Cambridgeshire

PACKAGING TECHNOLOGIST

Competitive salary + benefits

We have an exciting opportunity for a Packaging Technologist to join our Supply Chain department.

You will be involved in creating specifications for all our packaging. This challenging position means you'll also -

- Audit packaging suppliers,
- Identify packaging innovations from trade fairs and working with suppliers,
- Run trials on-line or in-field for new specifications or concepts,
- Approve new artwork,
- Work with the Purchasing Manager, Sales team and NPD Manager on development and cost efficiencies.

You'll be numerate and have a real eye for detail. An effective communicator at all levels, you will have experience in a QA or technical development function. Specific experience of packaging would be a benefit.

Most of all, you'll have tenacity, drive and a real desire to succeed.

So, if you think you can make our packaging outstanding, we have an outstanding package to offer you.

...And we'll serve you well – if you serve our customers well

CUSTOMER SERVICES CHAMPION

This role requires you to process and communicate orders from our major retail customers alerting the whole supply chain of any changes. You will need to ensure that all orders are accurately administered and that all procedures are followed in order to deliver excellent Customer Service.

You will be passionate about Customer Service and computer literate in the use of MS Word and Excel. You will be organised and self-motivated, a good communicator and team player. In addition, you need the ability to work to tight deadlines whilst maintaining a very high level of accuracy. Some weekend work as part of a rota will be required.

To apply for either of the above roles send your CV with a covering letter to Zoe Hale, The Shropshire Group, Barway, Ely, Cambsridgeshire, CB7 5TZ or email zoe.hale@gs-marketing.com

TRAIN AS A HOME INSPECTOR

Up to 2 million properties being sold every year now need Home Information Packs which must include an Energy Assessment carried out by a newly trained Home Inspector or Energy Assessor. Thousands more of these new professionals will be needed later this year for the rental sector when Government requires around 1.6 million properties being let in the first year to also have Energy Assessments.

This creates new and interesting career opportunities and we require people to train now as Home Inspectors in their spare time. No previous surveying experience is required.

Thousands more new Home Inspectors will also be needed if Government confirm Packs must include a currently optional Home Condition Report.

Current fee earning expectations are £60 to £80 for Energy Assessments and £200 to £300 for Home Condition Reports with up to 15 Assessments or 6 Reports estimated to be carried out in a week, depending on size of properties and supply.

Applicants should apply now for a limited number of training places at the Government's ABBE approved centres of Home Inspector Training near London and in Bristol, Birmingham and Manchester. (4-night accommodation package advice if required.) The Course consists mainly of 7 separately bookable one-week modules, taken over up to 10 months, if this long is needed, and is designed to enable most people to train around their current commitments.

On qualifying you are awarded the ABBE Home Inspector Diploma required by Government and are able to carry out Assessments and Reports on your own, for other Pack Providers or, depending on the market share gained, for our own in-house Pack Provider in return for receiving a course subsidy. Once qualified, additional courses with qualifications now being researched may be available to carry out property valuations, Energy Assessments for commercial properties and flood and fire risk assessments to provide additional income streams. Ref: HCM21D

Natural England works for people, places and nature to enhance biodiversity, landscapes and wildlife in rural, urban, coastal and marine areas; promoting access, recreation and public well-being and contributing to the way natural resources are managed so that they can be enjoyed now and in the future.

We are currently looking to recruit for full and part-time roles within our land management team. You will help lead the delivery of the team's land management objectives for a discrete geographical area. Whether this means promoting RDPE schemes, negotiating agreements and grant offers, or providing technical advice, you'll focus on providing a high level of customer service. Precise responsibilities will depend on your specific abilities and experience.

Since you will be the first point of contact for farmers and land managers for a range of environmental schemes, you must have a keen understanding of sustainable development in a rural context. You will also have a good understanding of the principles of ecology; and habitat and species management requirements.

Personally, you'll need a positive outlook, plenty of initiative and good IT skills – especially on spreadsheets and data management packages.

Above all, though, your success will depend on your ability to influence people at all levels.

Forest Heath District Council is an improving Council situated in North West Suffolk, which includes the town of Newmarket, seen by many as the home of horse racing.*

FOREST HEATH DISTRICT COUNCIL

Electoral Services Assistant

Up to £16,217 pro rata

Part time, 1069 annualised hours with two peak periods March to May and September to December.

Are you looking for part time work in a small friendly team?

We are looking for an enthusiastic and motivated individual to provide administrative support within the electoral services section. Reporting to the Electoral Services Manager, your duties will include producing and maintaining the electoral register and assisting in the organisation and conduct of all elections, including the co-ordination of polling stations and staff.

You will need to possess strong IT skills and be competent in all Microsoft Office applications. Administrative experience would be an advantage and you will need to be highly organised and have a flexible approach to managing a varied work load. Excellent inter-personal skills are required as contact with customers, other council departments and outside organisations is an important part of the job.

This is a part time post on an annualised hour's contract, requiring full time employment for two periods of the year (spring and autumn) with other days as and when required. A flexible approach to work patterns is needed, especially around elections, when longer than normal hours and occasional weekend / bank holidays are required.

For an informal discussion, please contact Sarah Cheek, Electoral Services Manager, on (01638) 719364. Closing date: 30 May 2008. Interview date: 12 June 2008.

For an application pack please contact the HR Dept. on (01638) 719325/334 or request a pack from recruit@forest-heath.gov.uk or download one from our website www.forest-heath.gov.uk

This authority is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children, young people and vulnerable adults and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. CRB checks required for relevant posts.

Exciting times for new track

Racing by Peter Scargill

NEXT Wednesday marks an historic day for British horseracing as Great Leighs welcomes the paying public for the very first time.

Britain's first new racecourse for 80 years opens having negotiated a trial period where invited guests and connections of runners were the only attendants.

During this time the track has received tremendous feedback from trainers, with John Gosden saying: "It is way the best all-weather track in Britain, and as good as anywhere you'll find in the world."

All this has delighted the track's racing manager Tim Jones, who said: "Thank goodness it has been well received! The trainers and others have been very complimentary.

"What has been really pleasing is the way the horse facilities have been accepted."

The track still isn't completely finished but Jones feels that it was the correct decision to open the course when they did.

He added: "I think it's been really useful for us, it's given us the opportunity to check the racing facilities worked properly. If we tried to double up with racegoers straight away the racing fraternity might have felt not looked after and the same with the public."

The course has also received plenty of praise for the amount of prize money on offer for runners.

And this is something that Jones is keen to see continue. He said: "We're definitely keen to keep the prize money as high as possible.

"If the races continue to attract good fields, we will be able to keep the prize money at their current levels."

The location of the track, not far from the M11 at Stansted, means that the course can expect a great deal of patronage from Newmarket trainers.

Great Leighs also hopes to stage Breeders' Cup trial races later on in the year as it is similarly configured to many of the top US tracks.

"The Breeders' Cup idea is something that's been considered for a long time because our track is the same shape and size as American tracks," says Jones.

"It's a chance for the European horses to test what they will be faced with in the US."

■ Next Wednesday will provide the acid test for the course with the first race due off at 2.30pm. Tickets can be bought for £20 per person or £100 per person for a VIP hospitality badge, which includes a party during and after racing.

Jones is hoping that this first public meeting will be able to capture the imagination of the British public.

McAleese finally gets pro chance

PAT McAleese is set to make his debut in the professional ranks next month.

The Newmarket light-middleweight is chomping at the bit to get in the ring for his first paid fight at York Hall, Bethnal Green on June 15 against an as yet unknown opponent.

McAleese had been frustrated in his attempts to get his first paid fight, but this week signed a five-bout deal with a London promoter that he hopes will give his career lift-off. He said: "I was waiting around to see if I could do something with Frank Maloney, but now I've probably got the same deal if not better.

"I'm really looking forward to it now. It has been disheartening training with nothing to aim for, but I've kept my focus and kept on learning in the gym all the time."

McAleese is selling tickets and arranging transport for fans wishing to see him in his first pro bout. Tickets cost £30 and are available by contacting 07852 980593 or pat-mcaleese@hotmail.com

■ Matt Jack failed to gain revenge in his rematch with Chris Brown at a show in Chatteris.

The New Astley puncher lost on a split decision to the Chatteris ABC boxer in their previous bout and it was the same result again.

■ RARING TO GO . . . Pat McAleese will step into the pro ranks.

Jack boxed despite struggling with a chest infection on the eve of the fight, but still made Brown work hard for his win.

Coach Mark O'Reilly said: "Matt has lost a few, but I think they've all been on split decisions.

"He pushed Brown all the way and although it's not an excuse, he was feeling a bit rough."

Club-mate Riley Vinden remains unbeaten this season after seeing off an opponent from the host club on the same bill. There was little to choose between the boxers, but Vinden did just enough to edge a split verdict.

Pender Buckley notched his first victory of the season by seeing off S Kirby from King's Lynn's Gold Star ABC on a unanimous verdict.

But Michael Cooper lost on a unanimous decision to home boxer Dominic McGurl at a show in Colchester.

O'Reilly said: "Michael just didn't perform. He can box better than that."

Brown puts Mildenhall on summit

NEWMARKET and District Swimming Club fought out this year's George Gibson Sprint Trophy Gala with three old adversaries, Ely, Mildenhall and Saffron Walden. However, as the evening progressed, the real battle developed between the home team and Mildenhall.

And it was the latter who prevailed with a comfortable 10-point win. Mildenhall totted up 128 points to Newmarket's 118, Saffron Walden's 85 and Ely's 68.

Cameron Brown was the 'man of the match' and deservedly received the team manager's swimmer of the gala award. He won the nine and under 25-yard freestyle in a personal best time and featured in the final event, the squadron relay, having taken to the water eight times in the interim. The rest of the team did sterling work. Braddan Westlake, Sean Collier and Leah Fisher all triumphed in two events and there were also individual wins for Seb Pettican, Craig Collier, Lauren McGivern, Laura Searle and Alex Fussey.

The under-12 and under-14 relay teams were in great form and were unbeaten in both the medley and freestyle races.

The victories were complemented by 12 personal best times from Brown (3), Braddan Westlake (2), Alyx Hatton, McGivern, Sean Collier, Hannah Parkin, Maya Westlake, Kerrie Paskell and Lewis Dann.

Tigers' spirit positive for boss Rogers

Stoke 54 Mildenhall 39

PREMIER LEAGUE

A DAMAGING first four heats was enough to inflict a fifth away defeat on Mildenhall, but team manager Laurence Rogers saw plenty of plusses from that point onwards.

The Fen Tigers were clobbered on Saturday night as the Potters racked up three early 5-1 maximums on to go 19-5 in front and threaten a rout. But the visitors matched the hosts for the remainder of the meeting to give the Premier League basement club hope that their fortunes could be on course for a turnaround.

Rogers said: "Once we got used to the track and the lads got their set-ups right, we matched them all the way."

Rogers also had a word of praise for travelling fans. He said: "We had a good turnout of fans which was pleasing and, all in all, it was an encouraging performance."

Mildenhall return to West Row action on Sunday when they host Reading.

Stoke – Complin 14 (5 rides), Barker 13+1 (5), Kristiansen 10+2 (4), Sanchez 7 (4), Evans 5+2 (4), Burrows 3+1 (4), Priest 2+1 (4).

Mildenhall – Laukkanen 12 (5 rides), Graversen 7+1 (5), Roberts 6+2 (5), Kessler 6 (4), Rajkowski 4 (4), Loof 3 (4), Makinen 1 (3).

■ LAURENCE ROGERS . . . Impressed with team spirit.

MOTORSPORT

Huff has sights on big prize

■ BACK IN THE RUNNING . . . Rob Huff celebrates his race win in Valencia at the weekend.

ROB Huff believes he is back in the mix for the World Touring Car Championship drivers' title after he completed his most successful race weekend in Spain on Sunday.

The Chevrolet driver dedicated his round-five victory in Valencia to his close friend Carlie Hunt, whose father Pete passed away last week, before going on to bag second place behind team-mate Alain Menu in round six.

And Huff, who lives in Newmarket, is now looking to ruffle the feathers of the leading pack after moving up from bottom of the listings to seventh in the standings.

He said: "It puts me back where I wanted to be at this stage of the season after losing points in the opening rounds in Brazil and Mexico.

"I felt we should have had around 15 points coming out of the first six races. Now I've got 18 from one weekend, which is my best ever in WTCC, so we're back on track.

"I knew all weekend from when we got the car off the trailer we were going to do something, because I just had to score points. What I didn't expect is to do what we did. I was looking for a win then another points score, but to then come second was great."

Huff now goes into rounds seven and eight on the streets of Pau in France full of confidence after picking up his third WTCC career win.

And he will be looking for a similar display to his Spanish triumph, despite now having to carry a success ballast of 48kg.

He added: "We go to Pau next and will be looking for more of the same, although we'll have extra weight now because of the success of last weekend.

"No matter what happens you can never give up, but it would have been nearly impossible to stay in contention for the drivers championship if I'd not picked up points in Spain, but now I have gone up to seventh.

"All I want is to be in touch come the last race of the season in Macau. There is a long way to go, but we're moving in the right direction now."

■ Newmarket driver Michael Caine maintained his championship lead in the Porsche Carrera Cup GB with two top-five finishes in rounds seven and eight at Thruxton in Hampshire on Sunday.

However, it proved to be a frustrating weekend for Caine as he claimed pole position in qualifying and was the fastest driver of the weekend.

Yet two incidents prevented him winning again. Caine led the opening lap of round seven but ran fractionally wide on the exit of the chicane and over a bump in the grass, which pitched his car into a spin in front of the pits.

He dropped to eighth place before he could get going again, but battled back to finish fifth.

In round eight, Caine again led the early laps and was looking good for victory until coolant from a damaged radiator on another car played a dramatic part in the race outcome.

First to arrive at the chicane on his ninth lap, Caine slid on the coolant.

His car pitched up over the kerb and damaged the splitter at the bottom of the front bodywork in the process, upsetting the handling of his vehicle.

Once again he battled on and finished fourth to retain a 16-point lead over his nearest rival, Tim Bridgman from Essex. The next two races in the championship will be at Croft on May 31 and June 1.

CRICKET: ROUND-UP OF WEEKEND'S ACTION

Chipchase hits out to Bury visitors

LEE Chipchase hit 45 as Mildenhall II ran out winners by six wickets at home to Bury St Edmunds II in Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division Three.

Mildenhall put Bury in to bat on a damp track, with the visitors making 145 for 7 in a game reduced to 40 overs because of the weather.

In reply, opener Chipchase's efforts took the score to 77 for 5, before an aggressive 43 not out from captain Steve Lankester ensured Mildenhall victory with eight overs to spare.

Danny Reynolds took three wickets, but could not prevent an under-strength Lakenheath from going down by 43 runs at home to Copford in Division Three. Copford were reduced to 21 for 4 before going on to make 146 for 9, with Reynolds claiming 3 for 32.

Lakenheath looked to be going along well on 76 for 3, with Keith Starr notching 32, only to suffer a batting collapse, with four wickets going for just two runs as they ultimately fell short on 103 for 9.

Mildenhall's trip to Maldon in Division One was called off due to rain, as was the Division Two clash involving Exning at Brightlingsea.

Mildenhall Sunday Firsts did see some action on Sunday with a nine-wicket success over Woolpit in the Hunts County Bats League, Division One.

Mildenhall held their opposition to 161 for 5 and then made light work of the run chase with Richard Cross (44no) and Ziaf Kulasi (92no) guiding their side home.

In Division Two of the same competition, H Muller (65) and Steve Hunt (81) led the way in Mildenhall Sunday II's victory over Roughan. Hall posted 246 for 8 from their 40 overs and then bowled Roughan out for 121.

Fordham enjoyed a good weekend with a league and cup double.

First they hammered Kimbolton in a 124-run victory in the Tucker Gardner Cambs & Hunts Premier League, Division Two as they reached a total of 173 for 7 before bowling out their opposition for just 49.

Graham Arnold's team then reached the group semi-final of the npower National Village Championship with a 56-run win over Weston Colville.

Fordham lost an early wicket, but Mark Silcock's 52 put them back on track and Darren Theobald (62) and Mark Abbott (72 not out) pushed them along to 241 for 4.

The introduction of the slower bowlers turned the tide for Fordham in Weston's reply.

Chris Rule took 4 for 35 and Abbott claimed 4 for 37 to add to his fine display with the bat as Weston were eventually killed off for 185.
